Foundation of International Chinese Journal of Dentistry

International Chinese Journal of Dentistry (ICJD) has been established in 2001 mainly supported by some top dental universities in South-east Asia, the United States, China, and Taiwan. ICJD will mainly publish dental PhD articles in the future and hopes to become a high academic journal in the world class.

Aims and Scope

The aim of ICJD is to provide a forum for the publication and rapid dissemination of excellent and high-quality articles in dentistry. The Journal features timely, original articles on the newest clinical techniques, research findings and dental materials. Color photos are also acceptable. It serves dentists in advanced dental or clinical practice.

This journal features four sections: Original articles, Review articles, Clinical Reports, and Dental Technology articles. It allows dentists and re-searchers to publish their initial findings, new ideas, clinical experiences, and techniques in a timely manner. It also publishes noteworthy abstracts. News, and notes so that dentists and researchers can have stimulating and timely communication with other professionals.

Open for Applications: Editors and Reviewers

International Chinese Journal of Dentistry (ICJD) seeks in 2001 applications for the position of international editor and/or international reviewer. Preference will be given to qualified professionals, preferable ever worked in international and/or local journal, or ever published English articles indexed by Journal Citation Reports and/or Medline, or whose experience and professional background would allow them to make a contribution to the work of the international journal.
